Dr Richard Morrison

BDS(Hons)

---

Originally from Belfast, Richard qualified with Honours from Dundee Dental School in Scotland in 1989 as the highest placed dental student in the UK for his year. Following experience working in the Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery department of Dundee Royal Infirmary, he entered dental practice in Perth, Scotland and then returned to Northern Ireland where he owned a surgery in Donaghadee for 12 years before leaving to work in possibly the best multidisciplinary cosmetic dental practice worldwide - the dental office of Goldstein, Garber and Salama in Atlanta, Georgia, USA. Here he gained invaluable experience and together with visits to the cosmetic dental office of Rosenthal and Apa in New York City it enabled him to progress his skills and approach to cosmetic dental care.

After a period working in Paris, France in a dedicated implant and restorative practice, he returned to Ireland to create a state of the art practice in Ardara to offer family dental care and an approach to cosmetic dentistry learned from his extensive experience that is both unique and exciting.

Richard is a member of the Irish Dental Association and the Irish Academy of Aesthetic Dentistry.

Beauty is the harmony of diverse parts,
their harmony, their symmetry.

To develop a complete mind study the science of art, study the art of science, learn how to see, realise that everything
connects to everything else.

Leonardo da Vinci

Our perception of beauty is very individual however beauty in nature can be found all around us. To the human eye the harmony and symmetry evident in nature gives us a perception of beauty. This also extends to our perception of human beauty. The balance of facial features and what we perceive as a beautiful smile are intimately interlinked. To achieve beauty in dental cosmetic treatment we do not simply design and provide a smile but base this smile around your unique facial features to provide a symmetry and harmony to your appearance. This is an artistic and creative process as well as a scientific one and results in the ideal natural balance which results in facial beauty from a smile that is designed for you as an individual.

cosmetic dentistry

Your initial consultation for this design process encompasses an assessment of you as a complete patient, not simply your teeth. We take into account your unique facial proportions and study the symmetry of your features before your dental exam and assessment of your teeth. From there we have a full discussion with you using digital images of your face and teeth so we can give you an understanding of the process involved in achieving the ideal aesthetic outcome.

Our approach which Dr Morrison studied in the USA is unique to our practice. It enables you to spend time assessing the appearance of your final outcome of cosmetic treatment before preparation of your teeth and encompasses not just the improvement of your teeth but achieving harmony of facial balance, ideal proportions of your restorations and the relationship of your gum levels and lips to your final restorations. Our techniques enable us to provide you with a smile that is uniquely designed for you as an individual taking into account every element of your facial features.

Artistry

Intricately linked to cosmetic dentistry. The ideal result of aesthetic dental treatment is as much about the artistic assessment of our patients as it is about our application of science and our provision of dental procedures. All work we carry out has an element of artistic appreciation and this is especially evident in our unique approach to cosmetic dentistry.
